Two injured in 'vicious and horrible' assault after march for Arek

TWO Polish men were assaulted in Harlow in the early hours of Sunday morning.

Witnesses said both men, who are in their 30s, were attacked by a group of four of five males around 3.35am outside the William Aylmer (Wetherspoon) pub in Kitson Way.

Essex Police is treating the incident as a potential hate crime. The attack happened just hours after the Polish community held a silent march in memory of Arkadiusz (Arek) Jozwik who died after an attack at The Stow, Harlow, on Monday, August 29.

Officers are not linking the two attacks and are appealing for witnesses of this latest incident to come forward.

One of the men suffered a cut to his head while the other suffered a broken nose.

Both victims were treated at Princess Alexandra Hospital and have now been discharged.

Superintendent Trevor Roe said: "This was a vicious and horrible attack.

"I want to reassure the public and the

AT ONE WITH NATURE: Linden Homes representatives open the garden at Freshwaters Academy in Harlow

Schoolchildren to benefit from new nature area

PUPILS at a Harlow primary school are benefiting from redundant land being transformed into a nature area.

Through a project with house-builder Linden Homes, Freshwaters Primary Academy, School Lane, is offering the calm area as a place to read and enjoy being outside.

Jacinta Addison, teacher at Freshwaters Primary Academy, said:

"The land, previously a disused pond and wooded area, had become overgrown, full of brambles and had been started to be used as a dumping ground.

"The children saw this as an opportunity to improve the area as part of an enterprise project and approached Linden Homes to give them a helping hand.

"This project has provided plenty of writing opportunities and has encouraged the children to take pride in their school. It was also vitally important to transform this outdoor space as third of the children do not have their own gardens at home."

The area was also decorated with features provided by other businesses, and the 320 children at the school can now enjoy the park for years to come.

Nine-year-old Rae White, who is a wheelchair user, said: "I used to find going out to enjoy the forest space difficult as I couldn't access most of the area."

"But now, with the work being complete, it has been great to be able to venture in to the nature reserve to learn and play with my friends."

Weight thrown behind proposals for M11 J7a

Councillors back plans ahead of crunch meeting this month

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

PLANS to turn country road Gilden Way into a three-lane carriageway has been given town council backing in a knife-edge vote.

Old Harlow residents strongly oppose the proposed M11 Junction 7a development, which will lead to a 71 per cent increase in traffic along roads near Sheering.

However, a majority of councillors considered it necessary for easing congestion at Junction 7 and essential to the town's economic development.

The motion was carried by 19 votes to 13 at a special town council meeting on Wednesday, August 31.

Councillor Jon Clempner, leader of Harlow Council, backed plans unveiled by Essex County Council in May and said: "It is the right long-term solution."

"Harlow requires this junction as it provides a different access point and it will provide relief from Junction 7 itself."

Essex County Council is expected to give Junction 7a final approval later this month after months of consultation.

Work could begin later this year and be completed by 2021.

Councillor Tony Durcan, portfolio holder for regeneration and enterprise, said: "I want 7a and I want it now."

Misery

"I sit on (the current road) every day, and I know the misery that hundreds of local people suffer."

"People cannot get in and out of town and now is the time to make that change."

A new roundabout will also be constructed to cope with the influx of traffic expected when the motorway link is completed in 2021. Gilden Way would be widened with a third lane planned for traffic entering the town.

Councillor Joel Charles said: "I believe the plan to connect M11 Junction 7a to Harlow should be abandoned and an alternative proposal should be considered."

The motion suggested moving the connecting road from Gilden Way but was rejected. Mr Charles later tweeted: "Disappointed by the result but determined to keep fighting for Old Harlow."

Residents have raised complaints about noise and congestion since the first talk of a junction in 1998. Among many to be present at the meeting was Robert Groves, chairman of Old Harlow Neighbourhood Action Panel.

He said afterwards: "This was a very disappointing result."

And Councillor Bill Pryor, leader of Harlow Ukup group, said: "These plans are totally unacceptable. What is being suggested is second best."

Concerns about pollution, an increased number of lorries and about the safety of children were also raised.

Councillor Rodney Bass, county council Cabinet member for infrastructure, said County Hall has tried to address Old Harlow residents' complaints by lowering speed limits and improving pedestrian access.

Members generally agreed a bypass is needed to the north of Harlow to better relieve the town of traffic, and Councillor Mike Danvers said the best option was to follow this road.

However, this would cost more money than is currently available and a waiting time of 30 years was suggested.

Mr Clempner concluded: "This is the only way we are going to get the junction in the short to medium term, and it increased the likelihood we are going to get a bypass in the future."

Blair takes the honours in popular 10-mile race

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A RECORD 294 runners completed the Harlow 10 Mile Road Race in near perfect conditions on Sunday.

The 27th annual event started and finished at Mark Hall Sports Centre with the final 200m run around the town athletics track.

Alan Wellbelove from Harlow Running Club said: "Perfect running conditions of cool and windy were enjoyed apart from a headwind along Harlow Common.

"The route with its undulating profile reached its conclusion in the mock Olympic Stadium of Mark Hall.

"A memorable day also proved to be a great opportunity to raise money for two worthwhile causes in Princess Alexandra Hospital and Mind in West Essex.

"The 2016 Harlow 10 Mile Road Race attracted a large contingent from neighbouring clubs as well as local talent, social runners and a few couples too."

Harlow Running Club again organised the successful event which was staged on a route through New Hall, Church Langley, Hastingwood Road and Threshers Bush.

The route then looped round into Harlow Common and Potter Street and passed through Momples Road and Felmongers on cycle tracks on the way back to Mark Hall.

Marshals handed out drinks at three water points while tired runners appreciated a sponge station in the final stages.

Blair McWhirter from Ilford Athletic Club was the first finisher in 53.53 and the first female was Lucy Barnes in 1:06.49.

ON THEIR WAY: The runners set off for the 10-mile race

Before the race John Heywood, 80, from Standon, said: "I am feeling apprehensive.

"I am 80 years old so I don't think I will be setting a personal best but one or two from my club (Ware Joggers) might be able to."

Simon Jones, 46, from Sawbridge-worth, said: "I am feeling a bit nervous, I have never done this one before.

"I live locally so I thought I would give it a go. I don't know what the course is like so we will see."

Rob Trevor, from Hornchurch, said: "I am training for a half marathon so this is a bit of a training run. It's a nice course, especially as it finishes on the track.

"I have only ever done one 10 mile run before and that was here."

Our Will was happy with his 42nd place ...

THE spirit of Harlow's people and the beauty of its countryside were both shown off in the town's premier run.

Taking part in the event was a joy with a well-planned route taking in cycle paths and country roads while cheery marshals offered drinks and sponges at perfect moments.

Ten miles is a rarely raced distance which offers a test in endurance and speed.

Having never attempted it before, my initial headache was over which pace I should attack the run.

Set out at my 10km tempo and I risked burning out too soon, but if I ran at half-marathon pace my time would suffer.

My tactic of setting out at a comfortable pace and pushing on when I felt ready seemed to work as I recorded a time of 1:09.34, which was good enough for 42nd place and compares favourably to my personal bests at other distances.

The overall standard was very high and runners from nearby clubs all seemed to come to Harlow in no mood to hang around.

It was very close, too, with more than 100 runners, a third of the field, finishing between 1:15 and 1:25.

The cloudy weather was nice to run into until the wind really let loose from mile six to seven which was run up to Harlow Common past an appropriately named road Windy Ridge.

Finishing the run at the athletics track was the perfect end to the run and completing the final half circuit felt like a lap of honour. However, the real praise and admiration should go to the many who made the occasion possible.

Developments PHOTO OF THE WEEK are flawed

Sir, When Harlow was originally built, the houses were constructed in large open green estates, even in areas close to the town centre. It also had brilliant facilities for bikes such as a large segregated cycle path network.

This layout was conceived to make the town a desirable and sustainable place to live.

Unfortunately, it seems that in recent years that the original blueprints for the town have been flushed down the drain. The industrial estate has had major retail developments such as the Queensgate Centre, which has no facilities for locking bikes, and narrow footpaths with no nearby road crossings. Bus routes to this area are also limited. Perhaps one of the reasons that much of the town centre is looking so dead is that many shops have moved to out of town shopping centres.

Some parts of the Newhall estate such as Fusion (which is still under construction) have also abandoned the original designs of the town.

Fusion has many roads with no paths of any kind on either side. It also lacks direct cycle path access. The houses have been cramped together as close as possible, and there is much less green space than the existing estates of the town.

Why does the council not reject developments which are clearly flawed in multiple ways?

The most concerning trend is that developments are being built for cars and not pedestrians, buses or cyclists.

In an age of congestion, pollution and obesity this is not a welcome sight. I am appalled at how the council wishes to turn First Avenue and other roads into dual carriageways. If cycle, rail, bus and pedestrian networks were improved, there will be a reduced demand on the roads and therefore no need to expand them.

Is J7a really the answer?

Sir, It would appear that Junction 7a on the M11 is to go ahead. This in itself is possibly a

Red admiral butterflies and bees were in abundance in her garden during the good weather, over the weekend when Anne took this picture.

If you have a photograph you have taken in or around Harlow which you would like to be featured in the Star, email a high resolution, landscape format copy as a JPEG, along with a brief description of where and when it was taken, to kerigh.palmer@hertssexnews.co.uk.

Please remember to include your name and address, some information about the picture you have submitted and put "Star POW" in the subject line.

good idea as it will reduce the queues of traffic entering and leaving the motorway at J7 during peak times.

The proposed route at present, however, will deposit traffic at Mark Hall roundabout and it will then continue into the town exactly as it does at present, producing endless queues at peak times.

Most residents of Harlow probably don't realise that despite an enormous amount of money being spent on the project, the congestion in the town itself will not be relieved and will probably worsen.

There is, though, a sensible option which would be to bring the link from the new junction north of Harlow, to join the town at Eastwick. This means that all traffic with a destination east or west of Harlow would not have to travel through the town at all and also traffic needing to enter Harlow, could travel east or west, from a central entry point, thus much reducing the traffic along all the main highways radiating from the town centre.

How pleasant it would be to be able to get from one side of Harlow to the other in a few minutes rather than be stuck in continuous queues.

Old Harlow councillors have done much to oppose the present routing, but without the support of the rest of the town aren't able to put their point forcibly enough. This is not Old Harlow 'nimbyism'. We are probably just more aware of the problems because we have studied the routes and options closely because of the initial impact on the Old Town.

If you have any care at all about improving the traffic situation in Harlow, please study the new proposal in detail and if you are in agreement that a northern 'by-pass' is the best solution, raise your concerns with councillors or via this newspaper.

Perhaps the editor could take on the challenge of a mini referendum?

Support local bike rides

Sir, There have recently been 'free' family bike rides in Harlow organised by Hub and Spoke at Bush Fair, and Lee Valley Cycles at the Stow. But so few people turn up for them.

It must be very disappointing for the organisers who give their time and effort to arrange them. We are fortunate to have about 30 miles of cycle paths around the town and along the river which are much safer to use than being on the road.

Why is it that the parents and children of Harlow are not interested in joining safe family bike rides with trained leaders? It is a such a healthy, outdoor activity.

Too late for extra patrols

Sir, Whilst reading about the attack and tragic death of Mr Arkadiusz Jozwik, the thing that has angered me is, the police putting on more patrols after the attack.

Why weren't the patrols happening before the attack, therefore this wouldn't have occurred.

Why weren't the councillors of this ward acting on the concerns of the residents. The residents had been complaining about antisocial behaviour for ages. It's a bit late in the day for extra police patrols now, that a man has been attacked and sadly lost his life.

Prevention is better than cure. Where there are problem areas in this town the police need to patrol, to prevent another tragedy like this from happening again.

I wish to send deepest condolences to Mr Arkadiusz Jozwiks family.

Name and address supplied

Sir, Over the past few days, Harlow has received so much negative press from the national media, and the vast majority of news given does not represent Harlow.

Harlow is a multicultural place and it is appreciated by most people.

Over the past few days, I have personally seen people being shamed of where they live, which upsets me greatly.

I work incredibly hard to promote our town, whether I am in Harlow or not, but due to recent events it has become incredibly hard, and often feels like a losing battle.

I know Harlow isn't a bad place, and many people would agree with me.

So please let's all come together and promote our town, we should be proud of Harlow, because the town has come a long way since it was first built and is successful, but then when incidents happen we have to stick together and work to make things better.

I know Harlow isn't perfect, but it's the place where we live, study and work.

Harlow offers everything from arts, culture and theatre to sport, parks and nature reserves.

These are just some of Harlow's highlights and whether you're planning a few hours, a few days or a lifetime here, Harlow won't disappoint.

However, people from the outside will not see this past the grey cloud that the national media has created, so join me to #BigUpHarlow.

I know people find it hard to promote Harlow, but it's not always about facilities we have, it can be about community groups, business or positive events that have taken place, we need to show the rest of the world Harlow is a good place.

Bad things do happen in towns up and down the country and it is incredibly sad to see this, but please don't drag the reputation of the towns down due to one or two individuals, Harlow isn't a bad place!

I have a Heart for Harlow and I'm Proud of Harlow, that is why I #BigUpHarlow, and I also believe, every hour should be a positive #HarlowHour, and I believe you should feel the same.

Let's rebuild our community's reputation and show everyone what the real Harlow actually looks like!

G4S is handed £1.8m penalty

Company failed to protect its workers

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

G4S CASH Solutions has been fined £1.8 million for failing to protect its workers from Legionnaires' disease.

Harlow Council took action in October 2013 following a report a worker had contracted the serious lung infection which causes flu-like symptoms. It is chiefly spread by water droplets through air conditioning systems.

The council's environmental health officers could not prove the Harlow worker had contracted the disease through the site.

Guilty

However, searches uncovered a serious lack of compliance in maintaining water systems at the workplace.

Harlow Council began prosecution proceedings and G4S pleaded guilty to two charges under the 1974 Health and Safety at Work Act on June 20.

At their sentencing on Friday, the Chelmsford Crown Court judge fined G4S and also ordered the international firm to pay Harlow Council court costs of £34,000.

A council spokesman said: "The environmental health officers found monitoring and testing of systems was erratic."

"Staff had received inadequate training and there were no up to date policies or suitable and sufficient risk assessments in place to safely operate or manage the building's water systems."

"G4S did not take steps required to reduce the risk of Legionnaires' disease from its water systems."

"This was despite a long-standing duty, extensive guidance, advice from their own consultants and advice from Harlow Council."

Representatives from G4S, who employ 200 people at their Harlow site, told the court they have since taken a number of measures to improve health and safety.

Councillor Danny Purton, portfolio holder for environment, said: "The health and safety of our citizens is our number one priority."

"The council will always encourage employers to make improvements that protect their workers."

"However, there are cases where if necessary, we will prosecute because you simply can't play with people's lives."

He added: "Although some improvements were made, it took G4S almost three years to reach minimum standards to protect its staff and visitors from exposure to Legionella bacteria."

"The fine should send a message to other companies. Legionnaires' disease is a real risk and companies need to take their health and safety duties to their employees and others seriously."

Illness

Graham Levinsohn, G4S chief executive for Europe, said: "We regret that in 2013 the water management process at the Harlow Cash Centre was substandard and improvements should have been made promptly once this issue was identified."

"While the risk of harm was low and no cases of illness were found to have been caused by the water at the site, we have fundamentally overhauled the approach to managing water systems since 2013."

"The regime of water management introduced across all our cash centres since is now industry leading and we are confident that a failing like this will not recur."

He added: "Harlow is a strong and resilient community but I understand the concerns recent events will cause."

Councillor Jon Clempner, leader of Harlow Council, said: "The council is concerned about any disorder, whatever the motivations for it."

Unacceptable

"The unacceptable behaviours of a tiny minority of people are not representative of the town I know. The perceptions these create are not the reality for the vast majority in Harlow. Harlow is a strong, open and welcoming place, and I know residents will continue to stand together and support each other. Harlow is a good place to live, work and visit for all."

"We are continuing to work with the police to support the community and to provide reassurance during these difficult times."

Hundreds solemnly march in memory of Arek

Ambassador pays tribute to 'victim of senseless violence'

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

HARLOW united in memory of Arkadiusz (Arek) Jozwik with a silent march from The Stow to St Paul's Church in the town centre.

An estimated crowd of 700 gathered on Saturday afternoon to pay respect to the 40-year-old Polish national who died on Monday, August 29 after a suspected assault two days earlier.

Police launched a murder investigation into the death of Mr Jozwik, who had lived in Harlow since 2012. Six teenagers have been arrested on suspicion of murder.

Polish nationals travelled from all over Britain and joined alongside Harlow residents for the ceremony and silent march which was led by town chaplain Robert Findlay.

He said: "Today Polish people have come from Edinburgh and many different places as well. We welcome you as we mark this solemn occasion."

"I'm so glad (the Polish and Harlow) communities were able to merge and come together. We have more in common than divides us."

MAKING A STAND: More than 700 were estimated to be at the march

Inquest opens for Arkadiusz

AN inquest has been opened into the death of Arkadiusz Jozwik, a Polish national who passed away on Monday, August 29.

Proceedings

Essex Coroners Court gave no initial cause of death when they opened the inquest proceedings on Monday. The opening statement was: "This 39-year-old gentleman was alleged to have been assaulted in Harlow."

"He was injured and taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital where he unfortunately died."

"Police are investigating the incident."

The Polish national anthem was played at The Stow ceremony while a minute's silence was observed.

Polish ambassador Arkady Rzegocki addressed the crowd in his own language before speaking in English: "We commemorate a victim of senseless violence."

"It shocked the community of Harlow. It was a huge loss to Mr Jozwik's family, to whom I offer my condolences."

"One of the lines of investigation is that it was a hate crime. Since the European Union Referendum the Polish community, as well as other minorities in Britain, has received racism."

"At the same time I am grateful to the British public for condemning racism."

Robert Halfon, the town's MP, added: "We are here today because an innocent man was buying a pizza with his friend and was beaten to death."

"This was a tragedy for Great Britain. There are so many people gathered here today and we have to make sure that (such attacks) do not happen again."

Silent

Local, national and even international reporters were at the silent march which was widely publicised through social media.

After a service at St Paul's, conducted by Reverend Findlay, marchers were satisfied with the occasion.

TV presenter fears worst is yet to come in Britain

A POLISH television presenter has spoken of concerns in his country following the death of Arkadiusz Jozwik.

The 40-year-old Polish national died on Monday, August 29, after an incident at The Stow, Harlow, on Saturday that has led police to begin a murder investigation.

Hate

Media have said the attack was a suspected hate crime although Essex Police has said this is only one of several lines of investigation.

Rafal Zalewski is filming a documentary for national station TV POLSAT in Harlow this week and said the death has sparked concern in Poland.

He said: "In Poland we worry that this attack could be the start of something bigger."

"We want to know if this is a big problem. We worry that you don't want Poles here and that there will be more attacks."

"We are concerned about what will happen now."

He added: "I think we were expecting something like that. Maybe some xenophobic ideology will start."

Margaret Eles, of Harlow, said: "It was well done, well organised and I was pleased with the way everybody came together."

Kehinde Ajaye, a warden at St Paul's Church, said: "I thought it was a very good thing, what else can we do?"

"Hopefully this will be a deterrent in the future."

On Wednesday, August 31, Harlow Stand Up To Racism also held a vigil at The Stow.

Adam Cochrane, from Harlow Stand Up To Racism, said: "It is clear that following the incident, particularly in light of the media coverage, many of Harlow's migrant community feel vulnerable and unwelcome.

"A narrative of Harlow as a backward, intolerant town has started to develop and needs to be challenged. We therefore must make it absolutely clear that Harlow is a proud multicultural town and the home of many principled anti-racists."

RANGERS CLUB

Is there life on Mars?

HAVE you ever wondered what it would be like to live on Mars? Rocket scientists have been baffled for years about how to survive on a planet with no air, water or food.

But now an Australian university is offering a course on how to survive on the Red Planet and recreate Matt Damon's achievements in the film The Martian.

Monsah University in Melbourne is giving students the chance to apply basic science and explore possible ways of producing water, oxygen, food and energy on Mars.

This could allow humans to grow the food and produce the air needed to survive.

And while Australia is a long way to travel, the four-week course is completely online and free to enrol in. It begins on October 24, and Monsah is now accepting applicants.

Astrophysicist Dr Jasmina Lazendic-Galloway, who is leading the course, said: "Mars is going to be the next big thing and pace agencies, as well as private companies, are already sending human missions to Mars.

"It is the only planet in the solar system where humans could possibly live, which is why it so fascinating.

"But sustaining life on Mars is going to be a real challenge, which will require some amazing science and meticulous planning."

Anyone who completes the three-hour per week course will receive a certificate.

MEP stands down after two decades in the role

RICHARD Howitt will stand down as a member of European Parliament after 22 years.

The 55-year-old former leader of Harlow Council is the only Labour MEP in the East of England region and has held position of rapporteur (lead-MEP) on corporate responsibility in four terms.

Mr Howitt will step down in November to become chief executive of the International Integrated Reporting Council, an organisation that links companies with society.

Making the announcement on Monday, he said: "It has been an enormous privilege to serve in this role, and I cannot thank enough the countless people who I have sought to help and who have shown extraordinary kindness in helping me.

Values

"It is time for me to take on a new role, but my personal values are as strong as ever, I will remain living with my family locally and I am sure the many friendships I have made will endure long in to the future."

Mr Howitt vowed to remain committed to his party and he will be replaced as MEP by a Labour candidate from the 2014 European elections.

He took up the post in 1994 as MEP for Essex South, a constituency which was amalgamated into East of England in 1999.

John's book recalls his Roman holiday

Architect and author remembers travels in memoir

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ARCHITECT John Graham has played a part in designing many structures in Harlow, but his new book explores a fascination with a Roman building.

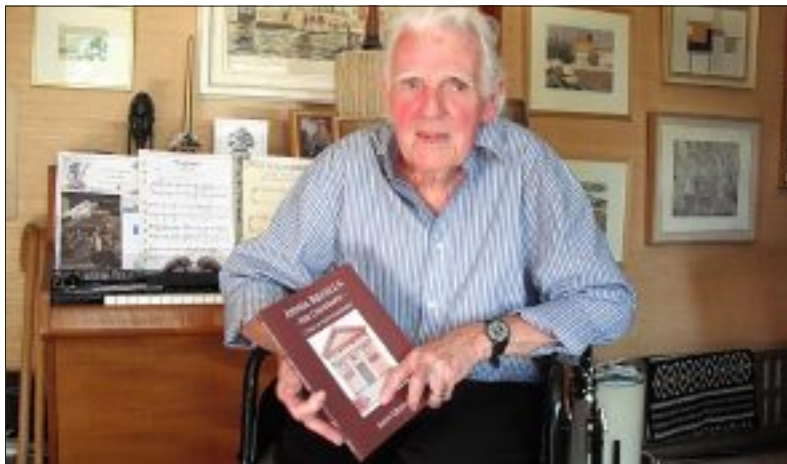

Annia Regilla - Her Cenotaph sees the man from Brook Lane Field, Harlow, recall his journey to Italy in 1953 when he discovered a beautiful but forgotten house and decided to find out the history behind it.

Mr Graham said: "I had travelled to Rome for a scholarship. It's the story of how I discovered this building, which in 1953 was partially ruined, but I could see it was beautiful and I wanted to know how it came to be."

After digging deeper Mr Graham discovered the building was central to the marriage of Roman woman Annia Regilla to Athenian Herodes Atticus, the richest man of the time.

The book, which was released in March, explores their fates and the parallels to Mr Graham's inter-racial marriage to Swedish singer Britt Backstrom.

Mr Graham is a longstanding member of Harlow Civic Society

OPENING UP: John Graham recalls his Roman adventures in a new memoir and Harlow Art Trust. Alongside Sir Frederick Gibberd he helped design town buildings, including the Harvey Centre.

Harlow New Town architecture is logically another theme of the book which features several of the author's own paintings.

Mr Graham continued: "It has taken me 60 years to produce this book as I had to live it first and had a busy career in architecture. I started writing about five or six years ago.

He added: "The book is self-published which has allowed me to write it the way I wanted.

"Locally the response has been great and I am signing books all the time."

The book is available to buy for £25 on Amazon or by contacting Mr Graham on 07904 660745 or johngrahamfineart@gmail.com.

Fire rages on more than a week later

Crews try to extinguish 50,000 tonnes of chippings

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

A LARGE wood pile fire continues to cause devastating damage to farmers and residents.

Essex firefighters were first called on Wednesday last week to JSJ Wood Recycling plant in Hoe Lane, Nazeing.

More than a week on, crews remain at the site as they try to extinguish 50,000 tonnes of wood and chippings while nearby businesses have had to suspend operation or close completely because of the ash and smoke.

Trade association Lea Valley Growers, which represents glasshouse owners in Essex, said residents have been affected in an eight-mile radius, with calls coming in from Harlow.

Lee Stiles, association secretary, said: "Several of our members are next to the wood pile and many more within a mile of it. They are all cucumber growers."

"When it catches on fire the debris hangs in the air and this can fall down into the glasshouses. It has caused the business next door to it to close."

"Businesses can't carry on and they are considering closing."

Eight crews attended the scene after a call at 5.23am. The blaze is the largest the fire service has dealt with since a similar incident in Mountnessing in 2014, which raged for weeks.

Hoe Lane has been closed intermittently while firefighters have worked with the Environment Agency to minimise any environmental impact.

Mark Samuels, overseeing the incident for the fire service, said: "We very much appreciate an incident like this has an impact on the local community, and we would like to thank them for their patience and understanding."

"We are working extremely hard with help from our partner agencies to bring this incident to a close as soon as we can."

This is the third major fire at the site.

Mr Stiles added: "There have been several fires at the site. It is right in the middle of a glasshouse area and it causes a nuisance to residents."

Frustrated

"Farmers are desperate and frustrated. They are finding it hard to get a workforce as no one wants to work in these conditions."

Lea Valley Growers has contacted the Environment Agency and has called on Harlow and Nazeing MP Robert Halfon for support.

Mr Halfon said: "After hearing of the third major fire to happen at this wood pile, I am very disappointed with the Environment Agency, who have been dealing with this situation."

"Preventative measures should be taken so that this doesn't happen again and residents shouldn't have to put up with this any longer."

A spokesman from the Envir-

UP IN SMOKE: Several engines attend the scene in Nazeing onment Agency said: "We have been monitoring the water quality in the nearby Nazeing Brook and River Lee and observed some minor impacts on the Nazeing Brook."

"We detected low dissolved oxygen levels and elevated levels of ammonia in the watercourse and found a small number of dead fish, suspected to result from water from the site of the fire entering the drainage system."

"Working with the fire service, we are ensuring firewater is being contained within the site and we continue to monitor water quality in the brook on a daily basis. Water quality is recovering and we have not observed any more dead or distressed fish."

Attempts were made to contact JSJ Wood Recycling.

Free bike ride a success

CYCLISTS pedalled their way around the town as part of the second Big Harlow Bike Ride.

All ages and abilities were encouraged to take part in the free ride, which was officially started at Church Langley Tesco by Harlow Council chairman Edna Stevens.

With four routes of varying length, Paringdon Sports Centre and Hub and Spoke shop at Bush Fair were also used as official start points.

One unnamed participant said: "Thank you very much for all the time and effort Hub and Spoke put in to organising the Big Harlow Bike Ride."

"I was part of a large group of adults and children and we had a thoroughly good time."

"Hoping to attend some weekly leisurely rides and I know others in our group were interested in the children bike training and mechanic courses."

TON-UP: Anna Rice-Milton receives an award for donating blood

‘Giving blood is an honour’

Kelly Clark

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

WHEN Anna Rice-Milton gave her 100th donation of blood last year, she was given a stark reminder of why her commitment is so important.

As she rolled up her sleeve for the quick routine she had done time and again before, her nurse told her a newborn baby was going to be the recipient of that day's donation in a lifesaving operation.

It was just the latest reason the 67-year-old had found for keeping up the 50-year habit.

She said: "I first gave blood as soon as I was able, at the age of 17. I wanted to do something useful, but as soon as I realised there was nothing to it, I knew I wanted to continue.

"When I discovered my blood was O-negative and that anyone could receive that blood type, I felt it was my responsibility to carry on as a universal donor.

"When I reached 25 donated units and got my badge, it spurred me on to do even more. I went to a presentation after donating 50 units and felt such a sense of achievement."

Having a blood type that is always put to use gave Anna a conscience and the feeling it was something she should continue to do.

Nurse Anna, of Broxbourne, said: "I feel privileged now to be able to give blood.

"In those 50 years, I've only had two breaks to have my two babies and have donated two or three times a year otherwise. It has just become a part of my life and it feels as though I'm giving back as I have been blessed with good health so far.

"To those who haven't ever given blood, I would say see it as a way of keeping a check on your own health as your blood levels are always monitored and any changes picked up immediately. The greatest influence to me is the fact you feel you are doing something good. If you are able to do it health-wise, you should."

Encourage

Dating a man who was a blood donor encouraged Annette Worton to give it a try.

Little did she know that man would go on to be her husband and one of the many people who would need a lifesaving blood transfusion in future.

Annette's commitment to donating blood started 52 years ago and has continued throughout her life and since the eventual passing of her husband Richard.

The 73-year-old, of Cuffley, said: "My husband had open-heart surgery and needed a blood transfusion 23 years ago to save his life. I lost him 11 years ago, but that transfusion saved his life once."

Annette gives blood every four months and tries to encourage as many people as possible to follow her lead.

She said: "I say to people, 'There's nothing to it, it's not painful and it takes just half an hour of your time'. I think maybe people feel they haven't got the time, but it's so much quicker and easier now you can book an appointment. In the early days, you had to walk in and wait your turn, which took longer."

"It frustrates me when people won't do it, especially those who are healthy and could so easily do it; it's so simple."

Advice on handling situation

What to do if your child comes to you about an image they have shared (Source: Mumsnet)

- Try to remain calm and assess the situation. Your first priority is to keep your child safe. Reassure them that they have done the right thing by coming to you
- Explore the facts carefully – establish whom they shared the image with in the first place (or where they posted it). Your child may be upset at having to disclose this information. If it is a former boyfriend or girlfriend it can seem like a double betrayal.
- If you know the person with whom they shared the picture, it may be possible to contact them or their parents to get it deleted/taken down
- If it is on a website or social network, try to get the provider to remove it by reporting it at once
- If it was shared on a mobile, this makes it harder to retrieve, but it may be possible to trace who it was sent to. You can contact the provider to change the mobile number so that your child does not receive any unsolicited contact
- If the photo is likely to be circulating at the child's school or college, inform them immediately. They have the power to respond to this.

Educating young about the dangers of 'sexting'

THE issue of "sexting" among teenagers needs to be taken more seriously, according to a national children's charity.

The practice can include the sharing of naked selfies among teenagers, and the NSPCC has warned that the consequences of this are little understood by children and parents.

The latest figures, revealed after a Freedom of Information request by the charity, show that 20 under-18s in Hertfordshire and 99 in Essex were reported for sharing nude images of children from 2013 to 2015.

Paul Wanless, the CEO of the NSPCC, expressed concern this may include youngsters who have shared photos of themselves.

"It is alarming to see so many children reported to police for indecent images offences," he said.

"Children need to be taught about the dangers of sending sexual pictures of themselves so they don't find themselves at risk of harm and abuse.

At risk

"Young people who are caught sexting put themselves at risk of sexual exploitation, grooming and cyber-bullying, whilst they could also face the prospect of a criminal record if they are reported to police."

IT IS a modern-day parental nightmare – finding out your child has been sharing naked images of themselves. But what can be done about this growing problem? Chief reporter Sam Meadows spoke to parents, teachers and child-safety experts...

IN NUMBERS

Total number of reported indecent image offences:

Hertfordshire

- 2013: 101
- 2014: 134
- 2015: 246

Essex

- 2013: 118
- 2014: 147
- 2015: 363

it so they do it too or that they have felt pushed into doing it."

When he became head teacher of the secondary school, mobile phone use was banned on school premises in a bid to help deal with the issue.

The school holds sessions for Year 7 students with trained police officers on the dangers of misusing their mobile phones.

"We spend considerable time as part of our curriculum speaking to our students regularly about the safe use of mobile phones," Mr de la Croix added.

"We also spend time discussing the importance of developing positive relationships and being confident in who they are and certainly not to feel pressured by others, in particular by what they see and read in the media."

Nationally, between 2013 and 2015, 2,031 children were reported to police for indecent image offences.

ted to police."

The charity's research showed only half of parents knew that children taking and sharing naked pictures of themselves was illegal.

Two in five had concerns their children may have taken part in sexting but had not spoken to them about the risks.

Ced de la Croix, head teacher of Sheredes School in Hoddesdon, said sexting and the sharing of nude images among his students was a concern.

"It's only after an image or text has been sent that the child suddenly realises the consequences of what they have done," he said.

"We often find that students think that everyone else is doing

Sandra is showing off her specs appeal again

A HARLOW woman has been named as a Specsavers Spectacle Wearer of the Year regional finalist for the second year running.

Sandra Hayes, 61, won a £150 voucher for the Broad Walk shop and a bottle of champagne after becoming a finalist for the Anglia region's 60-plus age category.

The Spectacle Wearer of the Year Awards aim to celebrate wearing glasses with pride while promoting anti-bullying charity Kidscape.

Ms Hayes, an assistant to a head teacher, said: "I came into the store to collect some prescription sunglasses before I went away on holiday and the staff were very encouraging."

"I was a semi-finalist last year, which was great fun, so I never thought it would happen again."

By advancing in the competition Ms Hayes is in with a shot of becoming the overall Spectacle Wearer of the Year and winning £10,000 in cash and a trip to New York.

Students move on after making grade

Parents proud of youngsters after overcoming issues

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW secondary school is celebrating the GCSE results of students who have faced struggles in their school lives.

Burnt Mill Academy, in First Avenue, notched up an impressive number of Year 11s passing with top grades, but school staff are also pleased with the progress of those with a less conventional story.

Eden Wright, 16, struggled to adapt to senior school and had been diagnosed with dyslexia.

But the Harlow teenager made strides forward after joining her peers in mainstream classes in Year 9.

She left Burnt Mill with one A, three Bs and two C grades.

Her mother Tracy said: "She has worked so hard, stayed behind every single day and come to Saturday school to do revision."

"Today, I'm feeling fantastic."

Twins Harry and George Orton joined facing E grades in English, but the pair were thrilled to both score B grades in the core subject, as well as an impressive haul of A* grades, As and Bs.

Both are now heading for Harlow College, with Harry studying catering while his brother will study three sciences and mathematics at A level.

Their mother Ginette said: "We moved the boys to Burnt Mill when they were in Year 10 as we were not happy they were working at such a low grade in English. We were worried."

"Two years ago, we couldn't see how they could improve on E grades."

Rewards

"This school has supported them and driven them on and given them extra support with Saturday school which definitely helped."

"There is the argument are we putting too much pressure on them?"

"Some parents could consider it's too much. But, unfortunately, the way of the world is today means these results matter more than ever."

"Now the boys can see if you put in the hard work and effort, you get the rewards."

DOUBLE SUCCESS: Twins Harry and George Orton were happy with their English grades

In brief

Business expands its range of services

TOWN business The Harlow Group has expanded its trade from sheet metal fabrication to include manufacturing machine parts.

Managers of the company, based in Edinburgh Way, Harlow, said the expansion is help give the feel of a one-stop shop.

Bill Timpson, managing director of The Harlow Group, said: "We have a large mix of high precision components that we supply and in many cases machine parts go hand-in-hand with the sheet metal parts."

"So, with customers demanding more from suppliers, it was a natural development to add machining to our portfolio of services."

Students' work helps youth project

NINE students from Harlow College assisted youth counselling service YCT as part of their National Citizen Service programme.

The pupils held a cake sale and washed cars to raise £160 for YCT centre in Maddox Road, Harlow, to fund decoration of their therapy room and some play materials for primary school age children.

In addition the students cleared and re-organised storage buildings, weeded the path leading up to YCT house and created art work for the walls of the therapy room.

Grove Cottage, the home of Bishop's Stortford Mencap is proud to celebrate its 50th Anniversary in 2016. Grove Cottage was set up in 1966 by a small group of families to who didn't have anywhere for their children to go. They felt alienated and got together and started a support group which has evolved over the last 50 years to Grove Cottage as we know it today. Kevin Davis, Trustee at Grove Cottage said "We are so proud to have reached this incredible milestone at Grove Cottage and it would not have been possible without the fantastic support of the local community. We would like to invite everyone who has been involved with Grove Cottage over the last 50 years to join us at our 50th Birthday party and reunion". Natalie Trapmore, fundraising manager at Grove Cottage, said "We are really keen to reach out and find people who have been involved with Grove Cottage in any way over the last 50 years to come along and celebrate with us. You may have been a member, or someone in your family may have been to Grove Cottage. You may have worked or volunteered with us or you may have run or attended an event - or brought raffle tickets or made a donation to us or maybe you know someone who was involved with Grove Cottage. Also if you are interested in finding out more about Grove Cottage and how you could get involved and become part of our future - we would love to see you too. Everyone is welcome. We have an afternoon packed full of family fun with performances from Herts and Soul Community Choir, Foxy Flamenco, Pauline Quirke Academy, Standon Morris, Bishop's Stortford Woodwind band, Live Wire Rock academy and Kool Hand Ukeleue plus much more. ## FILMGUIDE

Brothers in crime

OF THE WEEK

TENSE THRILLER: Chris Pine as Toby Howard and Ben Foster as Tanner Howard in David Mackenzie's acclaimed Hell Or High Water

Harsh times call for desperate measures in David Mackenzie's riveting crime thriller set in contemporary West Texas, where avaricious, corporate-driven America has ravaged close-knit communities.

Hell Or High Water cranks up tension with deceptive ease courtesy of a lean script by Taylor Sheridan, who had us biting our nails down to the cuticles last year with the Oscar-nominated action thriller Sicario.

Sheridan should expect similar plaudits for his exemplary work here, underpinning a familiar morality tale of world-weary cops and robbers with a touching portrait of brotherly love in dire straits.

Northumberland-born director Mackenzie, who made the extraordinary prison drama Starred Up, skilfully orchestrates propulsive action sequences and scenes of aching introspection.

Hell Or High Water

THRILLER: (15) 102 mins
Director: David Mackenzie
Starring: Jeff Bridges, Chris Pine, Ben Foster, Gil Birmingham, Marin Ireland, William Sterci

He immerses us in the daily sweat-soaked grind of richly drawn characters, who believe their only course of action is to don ski masks and strike back at financial institutions, which have crippled friends and God-fearing neighbours.

These men might flout the law and occasionally spill innocent blood, but Sheridan's script repeatedly emphasizes the rigorous moral code that the thieves follow on behalf of the disadvantaged people they love.

Toby Howard (Chris Pine) is determined to save his family's Texas ranch from foreclosure by robbing banks with his fiery-tempered brother, Tanner (Ben Foster).

They plan to hit several branches of Texas Midland, which they hold responsible for their financial woes, and use the ill-gotten gains to secure a legacy for Toby's embittered ex-wife Debbie (Marin Ireland) and two sons.

"Planning and doing are two different things," Toby cautions Tanner, who is prone to reckless acts of violence.

The opening heist of a branch managed by Mr Clauson (William Sterci) goes smoothly, but as the deadline for foreclosure looms, the siblings take risks to reach their target.

Their larcenous activities pique the interest of cantankerous Texas Ranger Marcus Hamilton (Jeff Bridges), who is poised to retire after years of dedicated service.

"I don't know how you are going to survive without somebody to outsmart," quips Hamilton's half-Comanche partner Alberto Parker (Gil Birmingham), who suffers a barrage of playful jibes on account of his mixed heritage.

The case gathers momentum and Hamilton and Parker edge closer to their prey.

Hell Or High Water is another triumph for Mackenzie, who expertly navigates the shifting relationships between men of shared blood and purpose.

Pine is a revelation in a role that ignores his pretty boy good looks, while Foster burrows beneath the chapped skin of his hot-headed ex-con.

Bridges delivers a masterclass in gruff cynicism and his verbal jousting with Birmingham is peppered with cracking one-liners ("Sometimes a blind pig finds a truffle!")

Delicate shades of grey separating heroes and villains compel us to ignore our own moral compasses and root for hunters and the hunted.

Crime pays only those willing to risk everything.

KUBO AND THE TWO STRINGS

ANIMATION/ACTION/DRAMA: (PG) 102 minutes
Director: Travis Knight
Starring: Art Parkinson, Charlize Theron, Matthew McConaughey, Ralph Fiennes, Rooney Mara, George Takei, Cary-Hiroyuki Tagawa, Brenda Vaccaro

Early scenes of co-dependence tug more than two heartstrings.

While the boy tenderly uses chopsticks to feed his melancholic parent mouthfuls of hot rice, the matriarch reciprocates, in rare moments of lucidity, with soothing reminiscences of the past.

In one of these calms before a storm, we meet Kubo (voiced by Art Parkinson), who lives in a cave with his mother Sariatu (Charlize Theron), a sorceress whose powers have been drained protecting her son from his evil grandfather, Raiden (Ralph Fiennes).

"You must always stay hidden from the night sky," Sariatu warns Kubo before he sets off for a nearby village to entertain locals with tall tales, which he brings to life using origami animals and a three-stringed shamisen.

During one of these expeditions, Kubo stays out after sundown in the hope of contacting the spirit of his father, a valiant warrior called Stop-motion precision seamlessly combines with state-of-the-art computer trickery to bring to life a bygone age of feudal loyalty, when men lived and died by the sword.

Energetic vocal performances tease out vulnerabilities and insecurities of the characters as they wrestle with their destiny.

Knight's picture is destined to become an enduring family favourite.

Moving drama about modern parenting

Captain Fantastic

DRAMA: (15) 119 minutes
Director: Matt Ross
Starring: Viggo Mortensen, George MacKay, Samantha Isler, Annalise Basso, Nicholas Hamilton, Shree Crooks, Charlie Shotwell, Trin Miller, Kathryn Hahn, Steve Zahn, Elijah Stevenson, Teddy Van Ee, Erin Moriarty

THE family that hunts and disembowels together, stays together. So says writer-director Matt Ross's heartfelt and moving road movie that goes back to nature to rediscover a bucolic time before television, smart phones and social media poisoned precious rituals like eating together around a dinner table.

Captain Fantastic is a bittersweet meditation on the perils of modern parenting, anchored by a tour-de-force lead performance from Viggo Mortensen as a straight-talking father, whose unconventional methods of nurturing his offspring might be considered abuse by outsiders.

"Power to the people – stick it to the man!" he counsels his children, who hone their survival skills and are blessed with made-up Christian names so they are unique in a world of slavish conformity.

On the surface, the family's makeshift camp in the forests of the Pacific Northwest looks like paradise, but fissures appear when two of the boys clash with their old man about the harsh consequences of living in seclusion.

"Unless it comes out of a book, I don't know anything!" despairs the eldest son, whose rites of passage include tucking into the heart of a freshly slain wild deer.

This tussle between idealism and sobering reality provides Ross's picture with its narrative thrust and tearful outpourings of raw emotion.

Captain Fantastic lives up to the superlative of its title, compelling us to care deeply about the wounded characters as they search for peace and unity in a world of bitter conflict.

Mortensen's magnificent portrayal of a patriarch who worries he might be ruining his children's lives, is matched by mesmerising performances from young co-stars including London-born MacKay.

They gel magnificently on screen and relish snappy dialogue that sensitively addresses the fresh wounds of an unconventional family wrestling with that most universal of feelings: loss.

PUTTING ON A SHOW:
The cast of first production Matilda

LITTLE WIZZES WANTED

THE stage is set for a magical adaptation of The Wizard of Oz – and all a new youth theatre club need is a cast to perform it. Top Hat Stage and Screen School is launching its Essex base this month at Mark Hall Academy in Harlow. Youngsters aged six to 17 are invited to take part in the singing, dance and drama coaching offered by professional teachers.

Weekly three-hour sessions every Saturday from September 10 will lead up to a performance of Dorothy the Wicked Witch on December 10, which will also feature songs from West End hit Wicked.

After casting, rehearsing and performing pilot production Matilda in just three days Anna Gastermer, school head teacher, has high hopes for what can be achieved in four months.

"It's a fun, friendly place to be and they will receive training in all of the arts with a production every term," said the 32-year-old who lives in Potters Bar in Hertfordshire.

"We did Matilda. That was a show we put on in three days at Mark Hall

HEAD TEACHER: Anna Gastermer is taking control of the school

Academy to see how it would go in Harlow.

"It went really well. We had children from five to 15 years old, they did all their homework and learnt all of their lines.

"It was a 30-minute performance. We had feedback from parents and they said the children really enjoyed it."

Anna trained at the Urdang Academy, a performing arts school in London, and has since gone on to perform on and choreograph performances for television.

Her credits include: The Brit Awards, Pineapple Dance Studios, T4 on the Beach and The X Factor.

Tiny Toppers is a special section of the school for younger performers aged four and five.

Mark Hall Academy, in First Avenue, will be the location for all Top Hat's rehearsing.

The first session is free, with a discounted price of £188 offered on the door for a term's worth of sessions, Tiny Toppers are £185. The normal price is £295.

Anna continued: "Predominantly it has been girls but I am hoping to get boys into the school, it's a matter of them wanting to do it. At a school in Welwyn Garden City there are boys and girls and they enjoy it."

Top Hat will run from 10am to 1pm and Tiny Toppers from 10am to noon.

Beeb's talent search is on

BIG GIG: Anna Pancaldi will perform as part of BBC Introducing Essex

SINGER-songwriter Anna Pancaldi is hoping to follow in some illustrious footsteps by signing up to BBC Introducing.

Anna and Chelmsford indie rock outfit Secret Company are on the bill at Harlow Playhouse on Tuesday, September 13, for a concert hoping to find exposure for local bands.

This is the first in a series of gigs where three or four artists a month will play at the Playhouse Square venue as part of BBC Introducing Essex.

Arena headliners Florence and the Machine and Two Door Cinema Club are just two of the big names to have been found through the beeb's talent search.

And on the back of her latest EP called Dear Joey, Anna is thrilled to have been given an opportunity to perform her heartfelt ballads and stripped-back pop.

"Anything to do with BBC Introducing is just wonderful, it's great exposure and really valuable support," she said.

"I am so excited for people to hear the EP. It's the proudest I have ever been of a release."

The Colchester musician will be playing the Harlow Playhouse date following her recent return from her first US tour, which included shows in Nashville and Los Angeles, as well as performing live on CBS.

She said: "The shows were packed out and I'd never even played there before."

"I kept my expectations low as they're a really different crowd to the UK but I was blown away."

"With touring you really need to put a lot of time into it. I've just been loving playing to all the different crowds and seeing the world."

Anna Pancaldi and Secret Company will perform as part of Harlow Playhouse initiative Pay What You Can where audience members can make an anonymous donation at the end.

By Enda Mullen

AUDI's entry into the SUV sector, which was spearheaded by the original Q7 in 2006, has been a success.

Today the German marque has several contenders, with even more on the way, though the Q7 continues to be its flagship SUV.

Now in its second incarnation it's an impressive all-rounder that combines quality and sophistication with comfort and practicality.

The second generation model follows firmly in the footsteps of the original but has a number of key improvements and enhancements which really do make a difference.

Looks-wise it's been tweaked and tucked – a familiar Audi trademark – rather than radically overhauled.

Audi are passed masters at evolution and the Q7 is a great example of that.

Some of the changes have been a little more transformational though.

I recall my first Q7 experience in the mid noughties as being generally good, though I found it somewhat big and bulky.

It meant some everyday suburban motoring tasks, such as parking in supermarket spaces and entering multi-story car parks, had to be enacted with a degree of care.

Its successor has been scaled-down – subtly so but enough to make a difference.

Narrower and shorter than the original it makes the Q7 much easier to drive around town and live with on a day to day basis.

It's also been slimmed-down considerably – being a whopping 325kg lighter than the original.

That has done much to enhance its driving dynamics and ultimately the whole feel of the vehicle.

The Q7 still comes with four-wheel drive though its clearly been engineered more towards on-road refinement than being able to cut it in the mud.

On the inside the Q7 is both practical and palatial. While the overall size of the car might have been reduced the cabin is still huge and has the ability to seat seven.

Fit and finish are exemplary and combined with high quality instrumentation and switchgear, it demonstrates that yet again Audi continues to set the pace.

In terms of engines there's a straight choice of one of two versions of a 3.0-litre diesel, offering either 215bhp or 268bhp.

This was the lower-powered model which felt extremely smooth, potent and capable.

However, if you do want a little more power at your disposal upgrading to the 268bhp version won't break the bank.

A manual gearbox isn't available, with all Q7's coming with a smooth and slick-shifting eight-speed automatic gearbox.

My test car was S line trim which meant it featured plenty of comforts and extras, though the XE is also generously equipped and represents excellent value for money.

Standard equipment includes steering wheel-mounted controls Bluetooth and Audi's intuitive and easy to use MMI infotainment system. The sat-nav has to be one of the most user-friendly I've yet programmed.

Air suspension is an option and the highly rated system really does up comfort levels up a notch, though in fairness even without it the Q7 is an exceptionally comfortable car which soaks up the lumps and bumps with aplomb.

Even though it's a large SUV, the Q7 handles impressively. Sure, it sits higher but it feels nowhere near as high as something like a Range Rover Sport.

During my time at the wheel I felt it had more of the character of a sports-focused family estate than a full-size SUV.

You can select from a variety of driving modes but I found it at its best in dynamic mode. You can enhance its 'sportiness' even further by utilising the automatic gearbox's sport mode rather than the standard one.

Its huge cabin is a great strength of the Q7. Driver and front seat passenger are spaciouly and comfortably accommodated, as are rear seat passenger who are afforded plenty of knee, leg and head room.

Seats in the middle row can be slid forward and back individually and also reclined.

The two third row seats can be flipped up or down easily and don't do a bad job in terms of space and comfort levels – they even have their own cupholders too.

If you're using it as a five-seater the boot is generously proportioned and more than capable of serving the needs of a family either every day or when travelling.

Even when using the third row the boot maintains a degree of load-lugging capability.

With all seats folded fully flat the loadspace is cavernous – you could probably get a double wardrobe in there without too much bother, made even easier by the fact the boot has no lip to impinge access.

A powered tailgate used to be a bit of a novelty but is something that is becoming increasingly commonplace and comes as standard on the Q7.

All in all there's little to find fault with the Q7. Sure, it ain't cheap but it manages to deliver in pretty much every regard.

Senior Buildings Technician

Fitzwilliam Museum • £21,605-£25,023

The Fitzwilliam Museum was founded in 1816 and opened to the public in 1848. As well as being the principal museum of the University of Cambridge, the Fitzwilliam Museum is the largest cultural venue in the region, welcoming over 450,000 visitors a year.

The Museum houses over half a million works of art and antiquities spanning centuries and civilisations and displays them in 23 galleries. There are also stores, offices, education rooms, studios and conservation laboratories across six buildings in Cambridge, all of which require constant inspection and regular maintenance. All parts of the main museum building are Grade 1 listed, and must meet stringent government indemnity and insurance standards for the security, care and display of works of art, particularly in relation to security, building maintenance and environmental conditions.

You will work within the Fitzwilliam Museum Buildings Maintenance Team to ensure that routine services are maintained and that emergencies are dealt with promptly.

Under the overall direction of the Facilities Manager and reporting to the Senior Chief Buildings Technician, you will contribute to the operational management of the maintenance of the department including security, safety, maintenance and repair. You will also contribute to the efficient running of the department and the museum as a whole.

You will have completed an acceptable period of training and must have knowledge of traditional methods of construction and plastering, rendering, painting and decorating to both internal and external surfaces. This is important as many of the Fitzwilliam's buildings are old and listed. This work must be to a high standard and match with existing finishes.

A recognised trade apprenticeship in City & Guilds Advanced Certificate or the equivalent NVQ Level 3 in Plastering and/or Carpentry with demonstrable post apprenticeship working experience is required.

Offers of employment will be conditional upon the satisfactory outcome of a Basic Disclosure check via Disclosure Scotland. Whether an outcome is satisfactory will be determined by the University.

(Various Roads, District of Harlow) (Temporary Prohibition of Traffic) (No. 3) Order 2016

Notice is hereby given that the Essex County Council has made the above Order under Section 14(1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

Effect of the order: To temporarily close the various lengths of road in the District of Harlow as specified:

Road Name	Descriptions	Alternative Route	Phase 1 dates
Brooklane Field, Harlow	From its junction with Brooklane Field for a distance of 170 metres in an easterly direction to end of road. Including side roads.	No diversion route available	12/09/2016 - 12/09/2016
Brooklane Field/Spinning Wheel Mead, Harlow	From its junction with A1169 Southern Way for a distance of 500 metres in a south westerly direction to Trotters Road. Including side roads.	A1169 Southern Way, Trotters Road and vice versa	12/09/2016 - 15/09/2016
Upper Mealines, Harlow	From its junction with Latton Common Road for a distance of 350 metres in an easterly direction to Trotters Road	Latton Common Road, Trotters Road and vice versa	15/09/2016 - 16/09/2016

The works being undertaken will be completed in phases. The first phase is programmed to commence on the dates shown above between the hours of 09:00 hours and 17:00 hours. The roads will be closed to facilitate each phase and then re-opened to the public. Access will be maintained for pedestrians and emergency services. Diversion routes will be signed at each location and residents will be informed of the dates of each phase via letter/leaflet drop and advanced warning signs on the road. Information will also be available on <http://roadworks.org/>

Phase One
Pre-surface patching works. These works comprise filling any surface defects and raising/replacing worn iron works (manhole covers and gullies) as well as removal of cat's eyes if present.

Phase Two
Surface dressing. The process entails spraying the road with bitumen and covering it with granite chippings, after which the road is then rolled, which along with the action of the traffic, embeds the chippings into the surface. The road will be swept within 48 hours and after 7 days. The bitumen part of the surface dressing as well as securing the chippings to the existing surface will seal the old road surface, thus preventing the ingress of water which causes deterioration of the road surface and will improve skid resistance.

Phase Three
a) Reinstatement of white lines if required. Reinstatement of any road markings.
b) Reinstatement of any road studs.
For all enquiries please contact our Contact Centre on 0345 603 7631.
The Order will come into effect on 12 September 2016 and may continue in force for 18 months or until the works have been completed, whichever is the earlier.

(Various Roads, District of Harlow) (Temporary Prohibition of Traffic) (No.4) Order 2016

Notice is hereby given that the Essex County Council intends, not less than seven days from the date of this notice, to make the above Order under Section 14(1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

Effect of the order: To temporarily close the various lengths of road in the District of Harlow as specified:

Road Name	Descriptions	Alternative Route
Edinburgh Way, Harlow	From its junction with Howard Way to its junction with Cambridge Road, a distance off approximately 1659 metres.	Edinburgh Way, A1019, A1025, A414 and reverse.
A1025 Second Avenue, Harlow	From its junction with Velizy Avenue to its junction with A414, a distance of approximately 1870 metres.	A1019, Edinburgh Way, A414 and reverse.
A1025 Third Avenue, Harlow	From its junction with Velizy Avenue to its junction with Haydens Road, a distance of approximately 274 metres.	A1025 Third Avenue, A1169 Elizabeth Way, A1019 Fifth Avenue, A1019 Velizy Avenue and reverse.

The closures are scheduled to commence at night to minimise disruption and will take place within an 18 month period from 16 September 2016 or where appropriate signs are showing and weather permitting. Exact dates and time will be specified on <http://roadworks.org/>. Access will be maintained for pedestrians and emergency services. Diversion routes will be signed at each location and residents will be informed of the dates of each phase via letter/leaflet drop and advanced warning signs on the road.

The closures are required for the safety of the public and workforce while carriageway joint sealing and crack repairs are undertaken by Essex Highways. For all enquiries please contact our Contact Centre on 0345 603 7631.

The Order will come into effect on 16 September 2016 and may continue in force for 18 months or until the works have been completed, whichever is the earlier.

Liz Burr, Head of Network Management, County Hall, Chelmsford.
Dated: 8 September 2016.

Claire Petulengro YOUR STARS WITH

ARIES MARCH 21 - APRIL 20
A close ones jealousy is becoming a problem and you may find it better to distance yourself from those who bring you down, rather than confront them. Family prove tiresome with their demands for something you did not want to give and you still don't. Talk, don't shout to maintain the upper hand. Ring now to hear why it's worth making solo projects joint ones this week.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 348 65p per minute

TAURUS APRIL 21 - MAY 21
A really tired feel to your chart could see you saying and doing things you will come to regret. Slow your pace and make a list of your priorities. It can help ensure that you get what needs to be done sorted out, even if the rest has to wait a little longer. You can only do so much, so don't set impossible standards for yourself. Ring now to hear how you're more psychic this September.

GEMINI MAY 22 - JUNE 21
Although you did not mean to spill a secret, you did and this week you have to take responsibility for sharing news which was not yours to give. Stand tall and tell the truth, it is the only way you'll get understanding and forgiveness from those concerned. Uranus helps you to realise an ambition and you start to shape your days to suit yourself rather than others. Ring now to run with your dreams.

CANCER JUNE 22 - JULY 22
The gift of clear vision is yours and you start to see with ease what needs to be done to make your life a more enjoyable place to be. Ring now to hear how new friends could lead you to a new home town eventually.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 351 65p per minute

LEO JULY 23 - AUGUST 23
Saturn's honesty has helped you to see close ones for who they really are and, this week, you take steps to move away from those who bring you down or add stress to your life. Visiting places from your past helps you get in touch with your emotions and you work out what you do and do not want by Friday, with some pretty explosive results. Ring now so I can give you a preview.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 352 65p per minute

VIRGO AUGUST 24 - SEPTEMBER 22
Family bonds grow stronger and you no longer worry that you are alone, for you see and feel that you are a unit and that those who tried to break you can no longer harm you. You've come a long way and I have to say I'm proud of how much work you've done on yourself. A Gemini links to a work change you can and should pursue. Ring now to make the most of your dramatic stars.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 353 65p per minute

LIBRA SEPTEMBER 23 - OCTOBER 23
A change you have been resisting could actually be to your advantage, so try to put aside a little time and space to think about what you may be impulsively turning down. The invitation to an alternative night out should be accepted, as it offers you the chance to see a certain person in a more relaxed atmosphere. Ring now to hear how education links are worth renewing this month.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 354 65p per minute

SCORPIO OCTOBER 24 - NOVEMBER 21
Although an idea you had was rejected earlier in the month, it could be accepted if you try again. It's all about the power of positive thinking this week. Younger faces tell unnecessary lies, but may have felt as if they had no choice or that they were backed into a corner. Wear blue for luck in business. Ring now to hear which friend could be more suited as a lover.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 355 65p per minute

SAGITTARIUS NOVEMBER 22 - DECEMBER 20
Your ruling planet Jupiter helps you to gain the upper hand in a financial matter which was getting the better of you. Aspects suggest that your family circle is about to widen. Try to show a welcoming attitude to all new faces, as your first reaction will be remembered more than you may think. Ring now to hear how Mars hands you the power to negotiate well this Friday.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 356 65p per minute

CAPRICORN DECEMBER 21 - JANUARY 20
I know you think a forced change is your downfall, but it actually has many positive aspects, as you would see for yourself if you took a few of those defences down. An event you thought was cancelled for midweek is likely to go ahead, so make sure you are prepped and prepared. Ring now to hear why it's worth spending more time checking on older faces this weekend.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 357 65p per minute

AQUARIUS JANUARY 21 - FEBRUARY 19
You are the one who has the power to stop arguments and family tension, but you seem to have your mind on other things. Stop and take a breath. Think about where your priorities should lie and you'll soon see where your time and energy is needed. A financial link to a far away town or country goes in your favour. Ring now so we can talk about those confusing emotions.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 358 65p per minute

PISCES FEBRUARY 20 - MARCH 20
The emotional chapter you went through recently is replaced by a more confident one and you start to feel ready to take on the things you shied away from previously. Minor health ailments need sorting out before they become major issues for you. Jupiter helps you shine socially in front of those you want to impress. # Chapman's ready for a tough Bognor battle

Hawks boss up for Rocks test after FA Cup success

by Matt Storey

matt.storey@hertsexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Town manager Danny Chapman is expecting a tough test this weekend as they host Bognor Regis Town at The Harlow Arena. The Rocks lost in the Ryman Premier play-off semi-finals last year as well as having good runs in both the FA Trophy and FA Cup, and Chapman expects them to challenge at the top of the table again this season.

"They were really unlucky not to go up last year," explained Chapman. "They faced a real backlog of fixtures after their cup heroics but still managed to go on an amazing run in the league."

"Unfortunately for them they lost in the play-off semi-final to Dulwich Hamlet but I expect them to be right up there again this season."

"It's going to be another really difficult test for us but we'll prepare as we always do and hopefully we can come out with a good result again."

The Hawks progressed to the FA Cup second qualifying round on Saturday thanks to a 3-1 home win against Ryman North side Romford.

Delighted

Striker Alex Read scored two goals in four minutes just after the hour mark to turn the game on its head after Matt Toms had given Romford the lead.

Piers Wixon rounded off the scoring in the 90th minute and Chapman was delighted with both the goalscorers: "That's six in seven now for Alex and they were two good goals, he's doing very well at the minute."

"Piers Wixon's goal was also brilliant and it was a really good win after a poor first half performance."

Despite the win Chapman couldn't put his finger on why the first half was so poor after some promising performances over the bank holiday weekend.

"I don't know why we played like we did, because it was a very poor performance first half," explained Chapman.

"It might have been mentality because we're playing against a team from the division below us and they raised their game against us as well."

"It's disappointing because we knew they'd do that because we were in the same position last year."

"But we had a really good talk at half-time and thankfully turned it round with the three second half goals."

"We dictated the game in the second half and in all honesty it could have been more."

The Hawks have been drawn away at King's Lynn in the next round of the cup. The Linnetts ply their trade in the Evo-Stik Southern League Premier Division which is the same level as Chapman's men.

And he expects it'll be a tough test when they make the trip to the Walks Stadium on September 17.

He added: "I haven't been to King's Lynn since I was playing for Welling years ago but they get good crowds and it'll be a tough test. There isn't an easy game in the cup though, but we'll go there confident we can get a result."

In brief

New signing for Leopards

BASKETBALL: Levett Essex Leopards have strengthened ahead of the new NBL season with the signing of forward David Ajumobi.

The 28-year-old was a key member of the Harlow and Brentwood-based side's Division One title winning squad in 2015 and his return is a major boost for Steve Ogunjimi's team.

Ajumobi spent the 2015/16 campaign with Division One rivals Reading Rockets.

"Signing David is a big deal for the entire Leopards organisation" said Ogunjimi.

"He is a player that leads through his play and personality, and is one of the strongest and most consistent players in the league at both ends of the floor."

"David is also a fans' favourite here at the Leopards, so I know this will give our supporters something more to cheer about."

Kinney runs in Petra Desert

RUNNING: Andy Kinney came 34th out of 58 finishers in the challenging Petra Desert half marathon in Jordan.

Kinney ran a time of 3hr 14min 20sec in the searing heat.

More locally Andy Bradley finished in 22nd place out of 130 finishers with a time of 4:00:56 at the Ouse Valley Way marathon, a long distance path from Milton Keynes to King's Lynn following the Great Ouse River.

Alex Smith set a personal best of 38min 55sec at the Middlesex 10K in Victoria Park. He came 89th out of 286 finishers.

Sharon Wright also ran, finishing 160th in 43.25.

At the London Spitfire 10K in Hendon, Jeff Mace finished in 171st out of 371 finishers in 57.18.

Griffin soars at bowls finals

BOWLS: Griffin Bowls Club enjoyed fantastic success in the Walthamstow & District bowling finals.

The prestigious competition is open to all affiliated bowls clubs in north east London and west Essex.

Griffin's very own Daniel Adams won the singles competition in the morning and then the triples team of Alan Hall, Danny Doyle and Neil Lanario beat Connaught Bowls Club 20-18 in the afternoon.

The team are based at the Latton Bush Centre in Harlow and to win two of the trophies on offer is a super achievement.

PLEASED: Harlow skipper Rehman Ahmed

Skipper's proud of his battlers

Cricket

HARLOW Cricket Club saw three of their four games rained off on the final weekend of the season, meaning both the first XI and second XI will play in Division One of their leagues next year, with the fourth XI also gaining promotion.

Harlow skipper Rehman Ahmed was pleased with his side's performance after a challenging winter, despite only just avoiding relegation.

"I am proud of the team," Ahmed said. "We knew it was going to be a tough season after losing six players, but everyone stepped up.

"The league was extremely close this year, normally 202 points would see you around third or fourth but we finished seventh."

"As a club we have done well with two of the four Saturday sides being promoted."

Rehman's men entertained Upminster on Saturday and batted first, finishing on 239-9 from their 50 overs thanks to Ahmed Khawaja's 65.

The game was abandoned with title-winning Upminster on 69-0 off 15.4 overs.

The second XI's promotion to Division One was confirmed despite their game against Horndon also falling victim to the weather.

Horndon made 186-7 from their 50 overs, Lewis Aldred and Denis Perry were the pick of the bowlers with two wickets apiece.

Dan Stopp top scored with 59 as Harlow reached 136-6 from 38 overs before rain finally stopped play.

The third XI suffered defeat away at Woodford Wells as they were dismissed for just 159. Wells chased the score down in 31 overs, losing just four wickets in the process.

The title-winning fourth XI also saw their game abandoned as they were 72-6 chasing Harold Woods 201-9 before the rain fell.

Bright Hawks future after Joma kit deal

HARLOW Town have extended their kit deal with leading Spanish clothing manufacture Joma for another three years.

Joma will supply the Hawks with their kit until 2019 and the deal covers both the senior side and the youth section at the club.

Manager Danny Chapman is also the head of youth development at The Harlow Arena and he was delighted to extend the contract.

"It's another brilliant deal for the club," explained Chapman. "It shows just how far we have come as a club in the last five or six years since the new owners took over.

"They make really good quality garments and to have it filter down to the youth team is really important as well as it means the club have a real identity."

Joma are looking to expand their reach in the UK and brand manager Gary Bright was pleased to finalise another deal with the Ryman Premier club, with Harlow company Create Identitee also joining up as a retail partner to supply the youth teams with their kit.

Bright said: "Harlow as a club aren't getting any smaller, they've added new teams and got promoted so it's a really good to be involved with them.

"We're happy that the club wanted to extend the deal because it shows how we are growing in the UK and there is a real feel-good factor surrounding Harlow Town football at the moment."

Relegation is confirmed for cricket club

HARLOW Town Cricket Club's relegation from Division Two of the Shepherd Neame Essex League was confirmed on Saturday as rain saw their game at Oakfield Parkonians abandoned.

Town have won just four times in the league this season but travelled to Oakfield knowing a win could see them leapfrog either Horndon on the Hill or Hutton, who were playing each other.

Skipper Neil Gladwin lost the toss and Oakfield elected to bat first.

Harlow bowled well and picked up regular wickets to leave the home side on 104-4, before a partnership of 60 between Ramya Upadhyay (44) and Taaha Naqvi (50no) threatened to take the game away from Gladwin's men.

The bowlers did well to end the partnership and take the last five wickets for just 53 runs, meaning they were set a target of 217.

Abandoned

With the weather closing in, Harlow knew they had to score quickly and were well set on 60-1 after just 11.4 overs to chase the target down.

Unfortunately, the rain began to fall and the game was subsequently abandoned, leaving Town facing the prospect of Division Three cricket next season.

Ashley Alderson was the only wicket to fall, scoring 38 off just 23 balls, with Shiraz Ali (20no) and Bilal Ali (0no) the stranded batsmen.

Alderson led the way with the bat this summer scoring 582 runs, including five half centuries, with Gladwin and Joe Holland scoring 482 and 474 respectively.

Holland produced the best batting display of the season with his 137 against Leigh-on-Sea. Gladwin also scored a century in that game as the pair put on 228 for the third wicket.

Daniel Farmer took 22 wickets over the course of the season, with Mohammed Ali and Shaun Alderson taking 18 apiece.

Paul Morrell's 5-35 in the home win against Oakfield was the best bowling performance of the season.

CHIASSARO AIMING TO GRAB A MEDAL

Athlete competes at Paralympics as the world No 1

by Matt Storey

matt.storey@hertsexnews.co.uk

RICHARD CHIASSARO is looking forward to his first Paralympic Games, which began this week in Rio.

The Harlow Athletic Club member has enjoyed a phenomenal summer which has seen him become the world number one in both the T54 400m and 800m events, and he also picked up a gold medal in the T54 200m at the IPC Athletics European Championships.

The 34-year-old won four medals at the competition in Italy, adding silver medals in the 100m, 400m and 800m to go alongside his gold.

Unfortunately, the T54 200m isn't a Paralympic event, but Chiassaro is confident he can carry on his good form in the other three categories and challenge for medals in Brazil.

"I'm feeling really good," Chiassaro said before he left for Rio.

"I'm the world number one now in the 400m and 800m and I'm really excited because this will be my first Paralympic Games, so I want make sure I can perform at the level I have been doing so far this year.

"I really enjoyed watching the Olympic Games and it has really whet my appetite to get out there and experience it all for myself.

"I can't wait to get into the athletes' village and to see how different the experience is to other competitions."

Chiassaro overtook Paralympic great David Weir to take his place at the top of the standings and Weir will be Chiassaro's main competition in the longer events.

Despite the competition, Chiassaro says it's a friendly rivalry and respects everything Weir has done for Paralympic sport.

Rivalry

"I have a friendly rivalry with David Weir, but we're on the same team so as long as we're on the podium together, nothing else matters.

"I overtook David at the top of the standings which was amazing because if I achieve half of what he's done then I'll be happy."

Chiassaro had never been abroad before he started competing at the highest level and is excited for the whole experience.

"The thing I'm most looking forward to is hopefully being on the podium - I'd be happy if I can do that in any of my events.

"I've never raced in Brazil before so it will be another country to tick off the list, I find that travelling long distances takes it out of you, but I'll be fine once I arrive."

He was set to miss last night's (Wednesday's) opening ceremony as he prepares for the 100m event, with the heats taking place at 11.30pm tomorrow (Friday) evening.
